After the evaluation of quotations, the Contracting Officer may work out final terms with one or more quoters of the Government's choice before issuing a purchase order. The Contracting Officer will not confer with any quoters other than those of the Government's choice and will not use the formal source selection procedures described in FAR Part 15.

The Contracting Officer may issue a purchase order to other than the quoter with the lowest price. We might issue multiple orders, purchasing various items or groups of items from different quoters.
